BRIGADIER GENERAL LARRY D. NEW

Brig. Gen. Larry D. New, is commander, 325th Fighter Wing, Air Education and Training Command, Tyndall Air Force Base, Fla. The 325th Fighter Wing is comprised of 4,849 personnel and 78 F-15 C/D aircraft, and provides support for about 1,400 additional personnel in 30 associate units. The wing trains F-15C pilots and serves as the exclusive initial training location for air battle managers. The 325th Fighter Wing is also responsible for training intelligence officers, enlisted weapons directors and other support specialties for worldwide assignment to combat air force units.

The general is a 1976 graduate of the U.S. Air Force Academy where he received his regular commission. The general's primary flying experience has been in the F-15 air superiority fighter as a fighter weapons instructor pilot. He has commanded at the squadron and group levels. He has also served in staff assignments at the major command and at the Joint Staff levels.

Before assuming command of the 325th Fighter Wing, the general was the director of requirements for Headquarters Air Combat Command, Langley Air Force Base, Va., where he was responsible for all functions relating to the acquisition of weapons systems for the combat air forces, to include the F-22, and new systems and modifications to existing systems. The general is a command pilot with more than 3,000 flying hours.
